Mumbai: In a surprise move, a couple of hours after being charged with the murder of daughter Sheena Bora, Indrani Mukerjea told a special CBI court on Tuesday that she wanted to divorce husband and co-accused Peter Mukerjea.

Indrani, 45, stood in the witness box and directly addressed special judge Jerome S Shahsolon: "I would like to tell my lawyer that I want to file a divorce petition. But I cannot do it as I am in this court. I wanted to clarify this since I am in judicial custody." Peter had been escorted out of court minutes before Indrani's revelation. Her decision, sources said, came after she felt betrayed and abandoned

New Delhi: The railways has decided to rope in private companies to redevelop and modernise 25 stations, including the iconic Howrah Junction, Mumbai Central and Chennai Central. The first private sector-driven redevelopment plan at Habibganj, near Bhopal, is expected to be flagged off by the PM shortly, paving the way for seeking private participation for the other 24 projects, most of them first-class facilities.

Bansal Construction will redevelop Habibganj station at Rs 400 crore — spending Rs

The 103-year-old Howrah station, India's oldest, will be redeveloped

100 crore for modernising the main stations and the rest for creating secondary facilities. Apart from the 25 contracts for redevelopment of at least two stations in Delhi — Anand Vihar and Bijwasan — are expected to be finalised by March, sources told TOI
